DETAILED ACTION

1. Remarks filed 04/20/07 are acknowledged. Claims 94-133 are pending in the application. In response to the Remarks, to which the examiner agrees, the examiner changes the grounds for double patenting rejection and issues second non-final Office action.

Double Patenting

2. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 94-133 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-40 of U.S. Patent No. 7,141,432. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims differ only in the following terminology: the instant application recites "protein sample" instead of "<sup>15</sup>N/<sup>13</sup>C-labeled protein sample", as recited in claims 1-40 of US 7,141,432. However, multinuclear multidimensional NMR is conventionally performed for isotopically labeled samples. Another difference is the expression "phase-sensitive manner", which is one of the embodiments of the method recited in US 7,141,432 and its obvious variation.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

4. Claims 94-133 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for  $^{15}\text{N}/^{13}\text{C}$ -labeled proteins, does not reasonably provide enablement for unlabeled proteins. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims. The pulse sequences recited in the claims require high abundance of  $^{13}\text{C}$  and  $^{15}\text{N}$  nuclei, which can be provided only in  $^{15}\text{N}/^{13}\text{C}$ -labeled proteins, see Szyperski et al. (J. Bionol. NMR, 1998, IDS): “[the protein] isotope labeling becomes mandatory when ... (ii) the structural refinement shall include heteronuclear scalar coupling constants” (page 140).

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant’s arguments, see Remarks, filed 04/20/07, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 94-133 under 35 U.S.C. 101 have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, new grounds of rejection are made, as discussed above.
